when we first heard that there was such a thing as "speech vitamins", it came as a great surprise the main sources for the cells used in cell-based therapies include embryonic stem cells, which have been controversial, and adult stem cells efficacy results were statistically significantly superior when compared to placebo on the primary outcome measure, the Montgomery-Asberg Depression Rating Scale (MADRS, 18.16 vs